Trilantic launch end-to-end e-disclosure services

Trilantic (020 7042 1000), the new litigation support services company set up earlier this summer by industry veteran Nigel Murray, has launched what Murray describes as "a complete end-to-end service" covering everything from data gathering and document processing, through to database hosting, document disclosure and courtroom presentation. Murray says Trilantic's "project management oriented approach" will save both time and money, compared with the current market trend for selecting multiple suppliers.
