TRILANTIC Celebrates 3rd Anniversary as a Leader in International eDiscovery

Leading European-based electronic discovery service provider continues product development and growth

LONDON, UK (September 18, 2008) – London-based TRILANTIC, the leading EU-based electronic discovery service provider, announced that August 17th marked TRILANTIC's three year anniversary. Quickly establishing itself as a leader in international discovery, TRILANTIC opened a sales office in New York. As a large number of litigation and regulatory cases being fought in the U.S. have an EU dimension, it was necessary to expand its comprehensive e-discovery service offering to U.S. clients. In addition to expanding office locations, TRILANTIC has doubled in staff and has seen substantial revenue growth in the past year.

"We tripled our revenue last year and are on track to double it again this year. I would like to say a big 'Thank You' to our clients and our partners for supporting us. Above all, I must thank the TRILANTIC team whose energy, enthusiasm and desire to give our clients the best possible service makes me proud," said TRILANTIC's managing director, Nigel Murray.

TRILANTIC offers comprehensive services that are unique in the European market. Services encompass all aspects of electronic discovery including data collection, electronic document processing, scanning, coding, review, printing, courtroom presentation, online deal and data-room services, and technical support. TRILANTIC aims to provide its clients with a cost effective approach to eDiscovery.

Other recent developments at TRILANTIC include:

- New Web Resource: TRILANTIC now provides the EU Data Protection Rules for data collection and removal for all 27 Member States via their Web site.
- New Service: TRILANTIC Translation Service (TTS). TTS is the first translation service that utilizes the accuracy of human translation with the power of technology. TTS can translate 6,000 pages per hour.
- New Product: Xbundle provides the UK and European market an electronic version of the traditional barrister's paper bundle.
- New Pricing: Small matter pricing. This gives lawyers the tools to handle smaller volumes of email efficiently at a small fixed price per month – especially at the early stages of a case.

In addition, TRILANTIC has established a network of data protection lawyers across Europe to provide matter-related advice.

In August, TRILANTIC received the prestigious recognition of being named a Top Electronic Discovery Service Provider - Law Firm Rankings, by the highly respected Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery Survey Report in both 2007 and 2008. TRILANTIC is the only EU-based service provider to make the list of top 20 providers in the 2008 survey.
