

e-Discovery - Accelerated review with TRILANTIC and Relativity

London, 6 September 2010 – TRILANTIC, a global leader for e-Discovery solutions, continues to expand its best of breed software portfolio with the world class review platform Relativity, responding to clients' needs for fast e-Discovery solutions without compromising on quality.

Paired with TRILANTIC's project management and technical expertise, Relativity offers the client a top end solution to the largest and most complex e-Discovery projects. Relativity's flexible and customizable workspace reduces valuable time and costs spent on processing, reviewing and production of litigation relevant documentation.

"We are thrilled to partner with Trilantic," said Andrew Sieja, president and CEO of kCura. "We look forward to the future of this partnership and its ability to provide clients a flexible, scalable solution in Relativity, with the support and technical expertise of Trilantic."

As a feature-rich online review platform, Relativity allows users to search themes, reveal trends and patterns within datasets and visually represent related documents. This ease-of-use allows clients to focus on documentation rather than technology, producing best possible results.

"Supporting clients during e-Discovery projects with highly skilled and experienced professionals using cutting edge technology is our company's philosophy", says Murray, Chief Executive of TRILANTIC "and it was therefore only a matter of course to add Relativity to our top end software offering".
